PREFACE

The country pastor is increasingly demanding a method by which he may study his parish. The writer has been engaged for three summers in rural survey work with the Presbyterian Department of Church and Country Life. The method here presented is the result of the guidance and inspiration received from Dr. Warren H. Wilson.

RALPH A. FELTON.

New York, N. Y.
January 7, 1915.

A METHOD FOR MAKING A SURVEY OF A RURAL PARISH

I. WHY MAKE A SURVEY

A guide must have courage, vision, and initiative. But more than this he must know the road. Courage may lead over a precipice. Vision will help in seeing only the mountaintops. Initiative may lead along the wrong way. In seeking a guide the demand is for one who "knows the road." The country minister is the guide for his community. The "divine right of leadership" more than ever is offered to a rural pastor, but he must "know the road." He must be a leader out of present specific difficulties. He must not lead his people in a circle or along an old trail used by a preceding generation for another purpose. He can learn to know this road by making a survey of his community.

II. WHAT IS A SURVEY?

A social survey is a diagnosis of social institutions such as the family, the school, and the church, to learn of their specific needs with a view to prescribing a cure. It is not new. Before building a railroad a survey is made. A quack doctor may use one remedy for all diseases or a superstitious medicine-man may rely on an incantation to his god, but a modern physician makes a careful diagnosis or survey of each case before prescribing a remedy. The modern social guide makes a diagnosis of social institutions and calls it a social survey.

To be successful a survey must determine a plan for improvement in addition to discovering facts. The plan presented here is designed to give a method for obtaining facts, and in addition a method for using them in bettering the social institutions in a rural community.

III. HOW TO MAKE A SURVEY

We are told that at the conclusion of an address on "The New Agriculture" Booker T. Washington was spoken to by an old Negro farmer as follows: "I knows what you say is true, Mr. Washington, and I want to do what you say, but I don't know what to do fust." It is not the present plan to convince any minister that he should make a survey of his parish, but rather to help him in the method of making such a survey, to show him "what to do fust." He will need to (1) seek the coöperation of ministers of other churches in the community; (2) announce publicly the proposed survey and its purpose; (3) make a map of the community; (4) visit each home in the community, filling out copies of the family blanks which are given in the second part of this book; (5) add up or tabulate this information; (6) summarize the significant results as directed on pages 8 and following; (7) make and carry out plans for the improving of conditions in accordance with the discoveries and improvements suggested by the survey.

1. Coöperation with Other Ministers. If there is another church in the community its pastor should be urged to coöperate in the survey. This coöperation affords many advantages. It will prevent denominational prejudices which might arise where the minister of one church calls on families of another denomination. Also while making the house-to-house canvass one minister can keep up the conversation, getting the information desired, while the other is writing it down on the blank. This will prevent the embarrassing pauses which otherwise would be necessary. After calling at each home much will be gained by talking over with the other minister the needs of each family while these needs are still vivid. In this way the unified plan for new work will be made while driving from one house to the next. Two ministers may believe heartily in church federation, but churches never federate until they do so around common needs. Such needs are discovered in a survey of this kind.

2. PUBLICITY WORK. Before beginning the survey a statement should be made in the local newspaper explaining the purpose of such a survey. An announcement similar to the following might be used:

"We the pastors of the Methodist and Baptist Churches are making some new and interesting plans for the betterment of the_____ _____community through our churches. We have arranged to make a survey of the entire community. Within the next three weeks we will visit every house in this community to talk over ways for improving conditions. We will ask you for suggestions for improving the work of the church and the school, and also for making better homes and better farms. We hope that all will coöperate in this new and interesting work.

"(Signed) Pastor of Methodist Church.

"(Signed) Pastor of Baptist Church."

3. MAPPING THE COMMUNITY. Dr. Warren H. Wilson defines a country community as follows: "A community consists of the land, people, cattle, property, roads, households, and institutions within a team haul of a given center." A map of the community to be surveyed should be made before the house-to-house visiting is begun. A suggested outline map appears on page 38. A pastor, before making a survey of a parish, should make a wall map similar to this one, only much larger. It should be at least three by four feet, and should record the details yielded by the survey. When completed, it should be placed on the wall in one of the rooms of the church or in the parsonage. The Post Office Department, Washington, D. C., publishes county maps on the scale of one mile to the inch, where complete county rural service has been established, and copies can be furnished at 20 cents each. Most of the counties already having complete rural service are in the eastern and central states. Remittance for these maps should be made by postal money order to the Third Assistant Postmaster General, Division of Finance, Washington, D. C. A list of the county maps will be furnished upon request. The church or churches should be placed near the center of the map. The map should be ruled off in squares, each square representing one square mile. A parish should extend as far in each direction from the church as the responsibility of that church extends. Around the outside boundary of the parish should be drawn double lines. If the roads and houses follow section lines the boundary of the parish should follow half-section lines to prevent confusion in determining the area of the parish. In other words, the boundary of the parish should fall between roads, not along them. On the map should be located the villages, the roads, the railroads and trolleys, and the schoolhouses. The name of each of the above should be written near its symbol. The houses could be represented by small circles and should be located while doing the visitation work. To make more vivid the future field for the work of the church it is suggested that the circles be filled according to the church-membership of the family. Only those fifteen years old and over should be considered when filling in these circles. Where none of the family fifteen years old and over belong to the church use an open circle, where some belong fill part of the circle, where all belong fill all of the circle. The map when complete will show clearly to the workers in the church wherein lies their field for future evangelization. As members are brought into the church, these workers will rejoice in seeing the circles filled. In filling in the map the following signs should be used:

4. TIME FOR MAKING THE SURVEY. It is not necessary for a new pastor to wait to begin the survey until certain "regular calls" have been made or church officers have been seen about "the regular work." This "regular work" should be combined with the survey, and the survey should be begun at once. The plan which has met with the best success is the spending of continuous time rather than one or two afternoons per week. A minister by working all day for four days per week should survey his entire parish in at least two weeks.

5. THE BLANK USED IN THE SURVEY. The blank suggested in the second part of this book has been used much and revised many times. It is now recommended for general use. It takes account of every person in the community, while church rolls take account only of the "ninety and nine."

In filling out this blank visit each house. Put a check (√) for "there is" or "yes," and a plus sign (+) for "there is not" or "no."

When making a survey alone, some have written in the answers to the questions after finishing each visit. They found that the people expressed themselves more freely when their statements were not being written down while they were talking.

In filling out the blank avoid generalities as "few," "many," "a dozen or so," "good," "occasionally," "as often as possible." Generalities cannot be added in a column.

Write on the blank only the names of those members of the family who live at home.

Use a separate sheet for male or female help, also for " -in-laws."

While making the house-to-house visits, take complete notes of interesting incidents or of plans for future work in the community.

Before making these house-to-house visits certain information can be written on each blank. For example (1) Write in the name of the community. (2) Fill in as many of the family names and the names and ages of the members of each family, as possible. A school-teacher or Sunday-school teacher could help much in this. (3) Write in the facts about the size and value of farms, also which farmers are owners and which are tenants. This information can be obtained from the township assessor or from some other district officer. (4) Write in the facts about church-membership and activities in the church as far as can be secured from the records of the church or churches in the community. (5) Write in the answers to the question "Attended school during the past year." Get this from the township or school clerk or from a school-teacher. By getting as much of the above information as possible beforehand, more time will be given to discuss other things during the visit in the homes. It will also prevent the asking of certain questions during the visit which may seem somewhat monotonous to the member of the family that is being interviewed.

6. THE SUMMARY OF THE FACTS SECURED DURING THE SURVEY. The results of a survey are not seen until the information on the blanks is summarized. There follows a plan for summarizing all of the information written on the blank during the house-to-house visitation.

Name of community

State

County

Township or other division of county

Denominational division, as Presbytery.

Surveyed by

His post-office address

(1) The Families

Number of families in the community
(See answers to question 1)

Total population
(See answers to question 39)

Average size of family
(Divide total population by total number of families). The average family for rural districts of the United States is 4.6 persons. According to the definition of the United States Bureau of the Census "All incorporated places having a population of 2,500 inhabitants or more are considered as urban and the remainder of the country as rural."*

* The facts given here regarding population and agriculture in the United States are taken from the 1910 census. A population bulletin of any state, giving the facts of the 1910 census, can be secured free of charge by writing to the Bureau of Census, Washington, D. C.

Number of families living in a village or town Per cent. of total
(Answers to question 2. Hereafter only the number of the question will be given.)

Number of families living in the open country (3) Per cent. of total
The per cent. of population of the United States living in rural districts is 53.7; the per cent. of the population living in urban districts is 46.3.

Area of community in square miles
(Add squares on map.)

Population per square mile.
(Divide population by area.) For the entire United States the population per square mile is 30.9; for rural districts it is 16.6.

Number of families who are farmers (4) Per cent. of total families

If the majority of the people in the parish are farmers, the pastor will do well to adapt his sermons to farm life.

The other occupations and the number of families engaged in each: (4)

States or countries in which the families previously resided and the number from each state or country: (5)

This table will indicate the character of the population. It will explain in a measure the large number of denominations represented in the community.

Farmers who have lived on their present farm: (6)

	Number	Per cent. of total	Per cent. of total in U. S.
		100.0	100.0
Less than one year	——	——	17.3
1 year	——	——	10.8
2 to 4 years	——	——	23.7
5 to 9 years	——	——	17.1
10 years and over	——	——	31.1

This table shows if the farmers who live here are apt to become dissatisfied with the community and move away sooner than the average.

If many of the farmers reside here only a short time, special plans will need to be made to get them interested in the permanent upbuilding of the community, which is the working purpose of the church.

Age distribution according to sex (39, 40):

	——Males——		——Females——
	This community	Entire U. S.	This community	Entire U. S.
All ages, per cent	100.0	99.7	100.0	99.9
Under 5 years	——	11.4	——	11.8
5 to 14 years	——	20.1	——	20.9
15 to 24 years	——	19.2	——	20.2
25 to 44 years	——	29.7	——	28.6
45 to 64 years	——	15.1	——	14.0
65 years and over	——	4.2	——	4.4

In case this community shows a smaller percentage of any group than the average in the United States, a special study would be interesting to determine the cause. For example, if there is a noticeable lack of young men it may be caused by their going to the city. To make a study of the cause why they left ask twenty young men in the village or city who have left the farm why they left and a similar number on the farms if they are planning to go and why.

Number of persons of school age, 6-20 years inclusive (40)

Number of persons in this group attending school during the past school year (41) Per cent. of total

The per cent. in this group in rural United States in 1909-10 was 62.9.

This table will show whether a truant officer is needed. A community that pays for a school when only half of the children attend is losing as much as the man who pays for ten pounds of sugar and takes home only five pounds.

(2) The Farms

Number of farms in the community (3)

Total acres in farms (9)

An agriculture Bulletin of any state giving the agricultural facts of the 1910 census can be secured free of charge by writing to the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D. C.

Average acres per farm (9)
In the United States the average farm contains 138.1 acres.

Farms classified by sizes (9)

	This community		Per cent. of
	Number	Per cent. of total	total in U. S.
Under 20 acres.....	——	——	13.2
20 to 49 acres.....	——	——	22.2
50 to 99 acres.....	——	——	22.6
100 to 174 acres.....	——	——	23.8
175 to 499 acres.....	——	——	15.4
500 to 999 acres.....	——	——	2.0
1000 acres and over.....	——	——	0.8

If the farms are larger than the average, this table may indicate a lack of intensive farming, or it may show that the land is being bought up by large landowners, thus being turned into an investment instead of being a farm home.

Value of all farm property (9, 10) $

Average value of all farm property per farm (9 and 10) $
In the United States the average value of all farm property per farm is $6,444. Where a farmer rents a farm for cash rent, deduct taxes from rent and divide this net income by value of farm to determine the per cent. of interest on the investment which the land yields. If it is above the regular rate of interest, farm land here is a good investment. If it is below the regular rate of interest, it would indicate that more scientific farming is needed.

Average value of all farm property per acre (10) $
In the United States the average value of farm property per acre is $46.64.

Compare increase in value of farm property for last 10 years to increase in pastors' and teachers' salaries for last 10 years.

If the value of farm property has increased and likewise the cost of living, the salaries of teachers and pastors should be increased in the same proportion in order to secure efficient teachers and pastors.

Number of farmers in community (4)

Number who are owners (7) Per cent. of total

Number who are tenants (8) Per cent. of total

Number who are farm hands (4) Per cent. of total

The per cent. of all farms in the United States operated by owners is 62.1, by tenants and managers 37.9

This table will show whether a large proportion of the population are tenants. If they are, they are apt to be newcomers and less prosperous, and therefore need the church more than others.

Sources of income in the order of their importance (11)

Total miles of roads in the community (see map regarding roads and distances)

Miles of improved roads (brick, gravel, or macadam)

Per cent. of total

Miles of graded roads (higher in center and ditches at sides)

Per cent. of total

Average distance each house from Market

Distance farthest house

Average distance each house from Village

Distance farthest house

Average distance each house from School

Distance farthest house

Average distance each house from Church

Distance farthest house

Special needs of farms (12)

The above answers to question 12 will show to a pastor some of the improvements needed in the community.

(3) The Homes

Number of homes (1)

Average number of rooms per house (13) smallest number largest number

Number of houses well painted (14) Per cent. of total

Number having running water in house (15) Per cent. of total

Number of homes having a telephone (16) Per cent. of total

Number having R. F. D. (17) Per cent. of total

Average number of books in each house (18)

smallest number largest number

Average number of papers and magazines in each house, religious (19)

agricultural (20) others (21)

Total smallest total largest total

Names of families having no religious paper

Some pastors, when they learn how many of their families are without religious or agricultural papers, arrange with some of their young people to get up clubs. The pastors give their encouragement to the plan and the young people receive a commission.

Names of families having no agricultural paper

The most serviceable agricultural papers are those published in the section of the country where the farmer lives. The state agricultural college is best qualified to give information on this subject.

Number of homes having musical instruments in them (22)

Per cent. of total

Number of musical instruments in their order.

Number having an automobile (23) Per cent. of total

Number having a driving team (24) Per cent. of total

Special needs of the homes (25)

All of the above data regarding the homes will show to a pastor some of the improvements needed in the homes in his community.

(4) The Social Life

Enumerate the social agencies in the community and the number of families that are ministered to by each (26):

The above table will show what the people do when they are not working. If their amusements are harmful, insufficient encouragement may have been given to the helpful amusements.

Which are helpful to the community?

Which are not helpful to the community?

Which are harmful to the community?

Physicians can give advice here. Get facts from them regarding venereal diseases and illegitimate births.

What is the church doing to provide a substitute for the harmful amusements?

Which are provided only for commercial purposes?

Which does the church assist?

Which could the church assist?

Special social needs of the families (27)

The above answers to question 27 will show to a pastor some of the improvements needed in the social life of the community.

(5) The Church Life

Population of community (39)

Number of church-members (44)

Per cent. of population (Divide church-membership by population)

In all the United States the per cent. reported in 1906 was 39.1.

Total population of community 15 years old and over (40)

Number of church-members in this group (40, 44)

Per cent. of this group who are church-members
This table will show the task before the church.

Compare increase or decrease in population to increase or decrease in church-membership for the last five years. (Get information from old residents.)

This will show whether the churches are growing in membership or losing ground.

Age distribution according to sex and church-membership (39, 40, 44).

	Males		Females
	Number	Number of Church-members	Number	Number of Church-members
Under 5 years...	——	——	——	——
5 to 14 years..	——	——	——	——
15 to 24 years..	——	——	——	——
25 to 44 years..	——	——	——	——
45 to 64 years..	——	——	——	——
65 years and over	——	——	——	——

This table will show the age and sex of the people in the community which the church is failing to win.

Age distribution according to sex and Sunday-school attendance (39, 40, 42):

	Males		Females
	Number	Number attending S. S.	Number	Number attending S. S.
Under 5 years....	——	——	——	——
5 to 14 years...	——	——	——	——
15 to 24 years...	——	——	——	——
25 to 44 years...	——	——	——	——
45 to 64 years...	——	——	——	——
65 years and over..	——	——	——	——

This table will show the age and sex of the people in the community which the Sunday-school is failing to reach.

Reasons for non-membership of church (46)

This data of the obstacles which are keeping people out of the church will suggest to a pastor new methods in his work.

Names of church-members who hold membership so far away that they cannot attend their own church (45)

These people will likely be glad to transfer their letters to one of the local churches.

Names of persons 15 years old and over who are non-members and their church preference (40, 43, 44)

These names should be given immediately to the pastors of the churches for which preference is shown, regardless of whether these pastors are co-operating in the survey.

Church-members 15 years old and over who have no activities in the church (40, 44, 47)

Names	Things they could do

This table will be of assistance to the pastor in the reorganization of the work of the church.

Persons 15 years old and over classified as to farm tenure and church-membership (40, 44, 7, 8)

Total number Number who are church-members

Per cent.

Number in families of owners Number of these who are church-members Per cent. of people in families of owners

Number in families of tenants Number of these who are church-members Per cent. of people in families of tenants

Number in families of farm hands Number of these who are church-members. Per cent. of people in families of farm hands

This table shows the way the church is ministering to the marginal people, such as tenants and farm hands.

For the relation of tenantry to church-membership see the reports published by the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York, on "A Rural Survey in Northwestern Ohio,"

"A Rural Survey in Southeastern Ohio," "Church Growth and Decline in Ohio"; price, 10 cents each.

The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America has many publications dealing with the subject of Church Federation. Address, United Charities Building, 105 East Twenty-second Street, New York.

Special religious needs of families (34)

The answers to question 34 will show to a pastor some of the religious needs of the families in his parish.

IV. SUGGESTED IMPROVEMENTS

1. Farming Conditions

The suggestions for improving farming conditions which were given during the house-to-house visits (35)

Some of the Principal Methods for Improving Farming Conditions

Better Methods in farming, such as:
Rotating crops

Testing milk
Selecting seed
Using commercial fertilizer
Spraying the orchard

Better Methods in marketing by coöperation, such as:
Creameries
Grain elevators
Produce Exchange
Fruit Associations
Dairymen's Associations
The Grange
The Farmers' Union
Better roads

Coulter, John Lee. Coöperation Among Farmers. Sturgis & Walton Co., 31 East Twenty-seventh Street, New York. Price, 75 cents.
This volume tells farmers how, by co-operation, to run the farm more easily and profitably.

Modern Conveniences in the house, such as:
Running water
Indoor toilet
Electric lights
Furnace heat
Bread mixer
Vacuum cleaner
Washing and ironing by use of electricity or gasoline power

A Farmer's Wife, Dodd, Helen. The Healthful Farmhouse. Whitcomb & Barrows, Boston. Price, 60 cents.
It tells how a farmer's wife who does her own work can keep the family healthy.

Harris, L. H. Health on the Farm. Sturgis & Walton Co., 31 East Twenty-seventh Street, New York. Price, 75 cents.
It treats of sanitation, preventable diseases, care of children, food values, and helpful recipes.

Van de Water, Virginia T. From Kitchen to Garret. Sturgis & Walton Co., 31 East Twenty-seventh Street, New York. Price, 75 cents.
It simplifies the work of every room in the house, telling about utensils needed, care of food and simple home decoration.

Each State Agricultural College has many bulletins on the above and allied subjects. Also the United States Department of Agriculture has 565 such bulletins. Both send their bulletins free of charge.

Of course, not all the above improvements are practical in any one community. Many are. The pastor can get suggestions on the ones he deems practical from his state agricultural college or from the United States Department of Agriculture.

Books of particular help in studying rural improvement from the standpoint of the church:

Bailey, L. H. The Country Life Movement. Association Press, 124 East Twenty-eighth Street, New York. Price, 60 cents.
A fundamental treatise on the Country Life Problem.

Beard, A. F. Story of John Frederic Oberlin. Pilgrim Press, Boston, Mass. Price, $1.25.

Presents the life and work of John Frederic Oberlin, the great prophet of the country ministry.

Fiske, G. W. The Challenge of the Country. Association Press, 124 East Twenty-eighth Street, New York. Price, 75 cents.

Gives a clear call to rural leadership by presenting definite opportunities.

Gill, C. O., and Pinchot, Gifford. The Country Church. Association Press, 124 East Twenty-eighth Street, New York. Price, $1.25.

The result of an investigation, showing the decline of the country church and the remedy.

Mills, Harlow S. The Making of a Country Parish. Missionary Education Movement, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York. Price, 50 cents.

A record of progress in one rural parish. The story of a vision and how it is being realized. Not a book of theories, but a straightforward narrative of surprising effectiveness.

Wilson, W. H. Evolution of a Country Community. Pilgrim Press, Boston, Mass. Price, $1.25.

Fundamental treatise of the rural question by the foremost leader in country church work.

Wilson, W. H. The Church at the Center. Missionary Education Movement, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York. Price, 50 cents.

Contains concrete and specific material which answers the questions country ministers have been asking.

Wilson, W. H. The Church of the Open Country. Missionary Education Movement, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York. Price, 60 cents.

A study of the fundamental relation of the church to the community.
